GANLEY RANKS HIGH

Nationals' Captain Is Now in the .300 Class.

NICHOLS IS SIMON THIRD

Suburbanite Divides Honors with Washington Player, the Pair Being the Only Two Easterners Who Have Passed 300 Mark-Niles Tops League-Wallace the Real Leader.

After getting a poor start, Bob Ganley, of the Nationals, has improved his bat-ting average until he is now one of the two Eastern players who rank in the .300 class in the American League.

Simon Nichols, the Boyds (Md.) boy, who is playing a good game for the Philadelphia Athletics, is the other Easterner in the select ranks. Nichols stands third in the league, with Ganley ninth.

Charley Jones' batting has slumped slightly and he is now two points minus 300, while John Anderson lacks only six points of .309. Hickman rates next among the Nationals, with .287,

Second Baseman Niles, of St. Louis, continues the champion slugger of the league with an average of .406. His mark May 4 was .429. In the game with Cleveland, June 2, his shoulder was dislocated, and he will be unable to play for some time. This inaction will keep him lead ing the sluggers, for he is nearly 1 points above his nearest rival, Wallace his team-mate. St. Louis, Cleveland, an Detroit each has three men battin above 300: Chicago, Philadelphia, an

Nothing Like It in History of the Diamond, but Detroit Players and the Fans Understand the Gingery Manager, Whose Team Is Making a Fight for Top Rung of League.

New languages, like new religions, are invented every little while. Countless attempts have been made to arrive at a dic tion that would be unanimous for all nations, but they have been as successful as Cincinnati's efforts to win a pennant in the National League, Volapuk was one of them, and the latest, up to this season in the American League, was Esperanto Now we have Jenningsa,

Hugh Ambrose Jennings, gladiator, diplomat, lawyer, exponent of the terra cotta style of facial landscape, head of the ginger trust, and promoter of enthu siasm, is the author of the new speech He has not had it copyrighted. There is no need of spending a dollar for that. It would discourage a phonograph to attempt to acquire Mr. Jennings' new system of communicating ideas by sound. Mr. Jennings is manager of the Detroit baseball club. Formerly that organization was automatic and made no noise except when it struck a projection on its downward way. Since Mr. Jennings became amalgamated with the team it has been vociferous. Mr. Jennings has done the vocal work.

Jenningsa will not become a universal language, although its meaning is clear. Every one who hears it can understand J.
